

Steven Pearce

A trained actor, Steven had a ten-year career in professional theatre, performing in or directing over 50 productions before starting work in leadership development with Andersens in 1995.

As a facilitator, his main interests lie in communication skills and relationship dynamics. He has devised many programmes for professional firms on these themes, combining his expertise in experiential learning with the use of psychometric tools such as Insights, Myers-Briggs and FIRO-B. In his coaching, he blends traditional 'presence' skills with the latest presentation techniques to help professionals make the most of their interactions with clients, target clients and colleagues.

His recent projects include helping to design and deliver a diversity programme across the firm at Ashurst, running business development simulations for Clarke Willmott, and coaching partnership-track candidates in London and Frankfurt for Allen & Overy.

He is an accredited member of the Academy of Executive Coaching.

Steven works with fresh as an experienced coach and facilitator for partners and senior professionals on personal impact and effectiveness.
